LOCAL MISCELLANY.

THE PARK BOARD IN SESSION. AN INCIPIENT STRUGGLE BETWEEN MR. LANE AND MR. MACLEAN.

The Park Commissioners' session lasted for fortyfive minutes yesterday. Their hour of meeting was set down for half-past 9 a.m. At 10 o'clock Messrs.
Wales and MacLean were present. Then Mr. Wales said: "This example of tardiness is disgraceful.
We ought to come together and then adjourn, and teach tardy Commissioners a lesson." Mr. Olliffe entered the room ten minutes later, and the three took seats around the table, Mr. MacLean, on motion of Mr. Wales, taking the chair. Within two minutes Mr. Lane came in, with the determined air of a man who could do something, if he only had a fair chance. He threw off his overcoat, wiped his glasses, sat down with a leonine air and made a pass to take up the bills lying before Mr. MacLean. Mr.
MacLean covered them with his right hand very suddenly.

"I wish to see those bills," said Mr. Lane peremptorily.
"You will have to wait until they come up," Mr.
MacLean replied emphatically.
"Thave a right to see them," Mr. Lane retorted

"I have a right to see them, Mr. Lane to see them, Mr. Lane turned red, twirled his thumbs, looked ferocious and then went to writing, not looking up again for half an hour.

The matter of the new elevated railroad station at the Battery and Greenwich-st. was taken ap, Mr. MacLean said: "As the Corporation Counsel refuses to advise us in the matter, we can do nothing but let the work go on." The American Sait Company were given the privilege of exhibiting a block of sait at the Metropolitan Art Museum. In the matter of trees Mr. Wales moved that the Police Department be requested "to arrest any person cutting down trees on city property in the annexed district, or attempting to remove the same." his was carried. At this point Mr. Lane made a herote endeavor to get at the bills. Mr. MacLean suppressed has so vicorously that for ten minutes Mr. Lane sat with crossed hands, and with a very contemplative air.

W. E. Messmer applied for the privilege of creeing a "carrouse!" in the Park, offering an annual rental of $1,000. This was refused, on the ground that the creetion of a new batters for the approach would be underlying. In offering an annual rental of $1,000. This was refused, on the ground that the creation of a new building for the purpose would be unlawful. The subject of a sewer in the Southern Boulevard was discussed, Mr. Waies advocating it on the ground that as the houses there were scattered, it would be a good time for it, as a sewer would have to be built there some time. Some apposition from taxpayers was leared. The advice of the Corporation Counsel was asked for, and the clerk instructed accordingly.

B. C. Murray, a contractor, asked that the time for the fulfilment of his contract be changed to next spring. Mr. Wales thought that an example should be made of dilatory contractors, and the request was refused. As the bills were now reached Mr. Machean blandiy handed them to Mr Lane, saying:

"You are see them now."

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

The examination by Commissioner Shields in the case of George T. Heney. Frederick Cocheu and David W. Smith, who are accused of conspiring to defraud the Government, was resumed yesternay. Cocheu, who is an examiner in the Custom House, is charged with receiving $385 for undervaluing a cargo of positoes assigned to Heney. Mr. Heney, who testified on Wednesdey to the payment of the money, was cross-examined yesterday by ex-Judge B. F. Tracy. The questioning of the witness was severe, but did not draw out many new facts. The books of Archibald T. Heney, with whom the witness was employed, were produced and the witness showed an entry of $150 which he said was conjected with the money paid Cocheu. The entry appeared to have been rewritten after an erasure. Judge tracy asked the cause of the crasure, and the witness answered that the words had originally been "for gratuity to officers, $100," but that when he was assured an investigation was to be made he changed the words to "for George T. Heney, account of Peter Thompson," and made the amount $150, to cover certain other expenses. The testimony of Mr. Heney was not finished yesterday, but will be resumed to-morrow.

ARRIVAL OF OVERDUE STEAMSHIPS. ARRIVAL OF OVERDUE STEAMSHIPS.

A number of steam-hips are two and three days prevate at this port, but no anxiety is felt concerning them, as they are slow vessels and it is known that heavy westerly gales have been blowing at sea in the track of most of them. Yesterday the India, which had been overdue nine days, reached here from the Mediterranean. She passed Gioraltar on December 11 and from there to Bermuda had continued neavy head seas. The Bermuda came in esterday from Bermuda, being six days overdue.

The Ailsa from the West Indics, three days overdue, also reached here.

REAL ESTATE OPENING WELL. A GOOD WEEK BEGINNING THE NEW YEAR-TRANS-

ACTIONS AND PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS.

The first week of the new year, closing yesterday, brought an activity in the real estate market which was greater than had been expected by conservative dealers. Those who had looked for an immediate buoyancy were disappointed, but the larger number of dealers and brokers had their reasonable hopes more than fulfilled. There was a renewed activity in both private and auction sales, although the full effect of the holiday season has not left the market. Where sales were not actually made, transactions were begun which promise to appear among the consummated tradings of this week. Prices continue strong, and while buyers endeavor to drive the best bargains, they meet with a stubborn resistance on the part of property-owners. Brokers say that realty is in strong hands.

There will be a decided increase in the number of anction sales this week, but there are no particularly large lots offering. On Wednesday sixteen lots in Ninth-ave, and Seventy-sixth and Seventy-seventh-sis, will be sold at the Exchange salesroom. This sale will be regarded with interest by real-estate brokers, who are noting an increased inquiry on the part of capitalists for West Side Central Park property. The difference between the sections of the Park as regards the relative prices of real estate is beginning, many brokers think, to attract a speculative attention.

"A blow has been administered to West Side ACTIONS AND PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS.

city bordering on the East and West Side of the Park as regards the relative prices of real estate is beginning, snany brokers think, to attract a speculative attention.

"A blow has been administered to West Side property," said a well-known Pine-st, dealer yesterday, "by the stoppage of the inght trains on the Metropolitan road after midnight. Of course we want to depreciate any estimate of the injury that can arise from that cause. Really, its effect will be eircumscribed because of the small trave; that patronizes the West Side elevated roads after midnight. Nevertheness, some injury to real estate may be done, and, to say the least, the action of the Manhattan Company is a step backward, instead of a step forward, in the development of that promising part of the city. The growth of the city there may be retarded, but it cannot be prohibited. Real-estate owners and brokers upanimously condemn the marcw-minded policy of the Manhattan management, but it yet has failed seriously to impress values."

Several scattered sales of West Side property were recorded list week and there are a number of important transactions in negotiation. Julius Lipman bought lines lots in Frita-ave., north of Eighty-sixth-st., for $97,500, and roseld them to a prominent builder, who purposes to creet three handsome brownstone front private dwellings. A good sale was made of five city lots in Sixty-sixth-st., for $33,000. Among the projected improvements on the West side are the creation by Feter Firley of seven five-story flat-houses in Fifty-fourth-st., west of Eighth-ave., at a cost of $140,000, and by Mrs. Margaret E. Niebuhr, of five five-story flat-houses in Forty-fith-st., between Ninth and Tenth-ave., at an estimated expense of $90,000.

Few important fransactions in East Side property are to be noted. John Graham has oongit nuncity lots at Second-ave, and Sixty-infu-st., for $50,000. There is a good strong genand for business properties downtown. Nos. 31 and 33 Broadway which, added to nix recent purchase of Nos. 17 and 19,

DISAPPEARANCE OF MRS. RODENSTEIN.

Superintendent Walling received information several days ago that Mrs. Eliza Rodenstein, a widow, whose husband was a physician in this city, had disappeared from Hamilton, Ont., while meane. It was supposed that she had started for New-York. She was well dressed and wore expensive jewelry, but she had no ready money. A description of Mrs. Rodenstein was furnished to Captain Hooker, of the Nineteenth Sub-Precinct, who was directed to have his officers watch for her arrival at the Grand Central Depot. No trace of her had been found yesterday. It is feared by her friends in this city that she has formed a rash purpose to travel on foot, because she did not have the means to purchase railroad tickets.

WAH SING'S LITTLE CHILD BURIED. WAH SING'S LITTLE CHILD BURIED.

Fung Oy, the child of Wah Sing, who died in her father's laundry at No. 276 Sixth-ave. on Wednesday, was buried yesterday in Chinese fashion. When the body was taken to the grave which had been prepared for it at Evergreens Cemetery bits of printed paper were thrown out behind the carriage which followed the hearse. The object of this was to distract the attention of the devil, who was supposed to be in hot purauit. The Chinese imagine that on such occasions the devil stops to pick up and read the bits of paper, and thus he is delayed until the body is safely deposited in the grave. At the grave the playthings of the dead child were burned, the mourners sprinkling a white powder over the fire which had a bluish light and emitted a pungent smeil.

The agent of a New-York clothing house, who was sent to Atlanta to settle up the failure of a retail house, made a few inquires of the man next door. "I peiler it whas a square failure," explained the man, "What makes you think so i" "Vhell, he dim't drink, nor smoke, nor gamole, nor drive a fast horse; and ash for his whie, she never buys nothings, and keeps no help." ELECTED BY ONE VOTE.

A BROOKLYN CONTESTED ELECTION. TESTIMONY AND ARGUMENT IN THE CASE OF CON-NELLY AGAINST LINDSAY.

The young men of the Assembly who, as the Committee on Privileges and Election are hearing the cases of contested elections in this vicinity sat nearly all day yesterday in the Fifth Avenue Hotel. They had all day yesterday in the Fifth Avenue Hotel. They had several knotty questions of law presented to them in the course of the day's proceedings and they repeatedly laid tifeir heads together and decided that they would not de ide the question just then. The case under consideration was that of Robert E. Connelly, Democrat, who contests the seat of David Lindsay, Republican, from the VIIIth Assembly District of Kings County. The contest between the men was a very close one, Con-nelly receiving, according to the accepted returns, 3,919 votes, and Lindsay, 3,920—only one more. The con-testant was represented before the committee by T. C. E. Ecclesine and Theodore E. Toulinson, and the sitting member by Winshester Britton and J. A. Wern-

In the Sixth Election District of the Eighteenth Ward an Assembly ticket is alleged to have been found in the Congressional box. F. P. Ziegler, the Republican can vasser, is said to have placed it in his pocket and left the room, and on returning to have thrown a ticket among those taken out of the Assembly box. The petition intimates that in this proceeding a Lindsay ticket was substituted for a Connelly ticket. The whole vote, largely in favor of Lindsay, ought therefore to be thrown out. In the Seventh Election District of the Eighteenth Ward seven Lindsay ballots were annexed to the return of the

A MORIBUND ORGANIZATION.

The Municipal Society, which was incorporated six years ago " to secure better laws and honest, effi-cient and economical administration for the cit/, the reduction of taxation and of the city debt," while not extinct, may be described as in a moribund condition. The constitution of the society provides that it shall hold a regular meeting on the first Monday of each month, except the months of July, August and September, and an annual meeting for the election of offi-cers in November. No meetings have been held for several months, and in the last election the society took ao part whatever.

This has caused surprise because the society was composed of leading citizens of the metropolis, including such men as Thatcher M. Adams, Samuel D. Babcock John H. Sherwood, J. M. Constable, Jackson S. Schultz, Oswald Ottendorfer, Sinclair Tousey and John C. Eno, all of whom were among the officers, and Joseph H. Choate, David Dows, Morris K. Jesup, Joseph W. Drexel and other well-known business men. The mem-bership was limited to 200 regular and 50 honorary members, and, like the Young Republican Club of Brook-lyn, the constitution provides that "no regular member will solicit or accept any nomination for office of emolument or profit, municipal, State or Federal, while a member of the society." A few of the members, like John R. Voorhis, Low a Dock Commissioner, and Salem

H. Wales, a Park Commissioner, may be considered to have dropped out of the society because of the accept-ance of their present offices, though there is no salary attached to the one Mr. Wales holds unless he can perance of their present offices, though there is no same, attached to the one Mr. Wales holds unless he can persuade his fellow Commissioners to make him president of the Park Board, an office to which there is a salary of $5,000 attached. The office has been vacant for three years because of the disagreement as to who should draw the salary. At one time the Municipal Society was in a flourishing condition and exerted considerable influence toward improving the local government. At that time it purchased the lot and building No. 67 Madison-ave., which it still owns. The hall is routed for various purposes, affording a revenue to it society, which now has a surplus in the bank. There is not sufficient interest, however, in the meetings to secure a quorum. In referring to this subject recently one of the directors said: "The seciety is not defunct, but it might as well be. Our constitution has been violated by the failure to hold the annual and other meetings, and I suppose to hold the annual and other meetings, and I suppose to hold the annual and other meetings, and is suppose to hold the annual and other meetings, and is suppose to seeily could be dissolved if any inember chose to take legal action to that effect, with a view of having the property soid and the proceeds divided among the members. A meeting will be called before long to take some action as to our future course."

"Do the members consider that the city has such an honest, efficient and economical administration that there is no further need for the society?" inquired the reporter.

"Oh no," was the reply. "There are only one or two

"I do not think the American cuisine is equal to that of London or Paris," continued Mr. Hallantine. "You have a great many simple tishes that are exceedingly well cooked. Your omelets are very good indeed. But on the wale I think I must give preeminence to your oysters. They have an excellent flavor and are well served. The steaks and joints are equal to anything we can get in England."

"How do you like the travelling accommodations in this country?"

"I don't like them at all. I have been almost jounced into a jelly in rating over some rairoads. The cars often seem more like the cabin of a ship at sen than anything else. The trains are very unsteady."

"Shall you remain long in the United States!"

"Well, that will depend upon the decision I make in regard to a very tempting business offer which I have recently received from England. If I docho to accept it, I shall start for Europe in a few days. I mut then I shall go to Canada, where arrangements have been mase for a lecture tour of several weeks. I shall decide what course I shall take in a few days. I can't say that I admire the lecture system of this country. I never like to read to an audience. I prefer to do as I do in court, speak without notes. I have an idea of wast I desire to say, and desire to say it as I would in court. It is quite enbarrassing for me to appear upon a platform as a lecturer, since I have to appear upon a platform as a lecturer, since I have to appear upon a platform as a lecturer some in the American idiomatic English."

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF A CHURCH.

The fiftieth auniversary of the Church, of the Ephphany was commemorated in its new building in Forty-seventh-st., near Lexington-ave., yesterday the Epophany was comment to the Epiphany. Bishop Paddock, of Washington Territory, whose wife is the daughter of the late Rev. Locke Jones, the first rector of the parish, when the congregation worshipped in Stanton-st., preached the sermon.

The Rev. Uriah I. Tracy is the rector of the church, and the Rev. W B. Cooper, formerly a missionary to Jupan, is his assistant. The church is free and is mainly superfed by an endowment. In connection with the church are a day school which has twenty scholars, a workingmen's club, a woman's industrial club and various missionary and ald societies. The church edifice is the building formerly occupied by St. Alban's Church. The Rev. Mr. Tracy, until a year ago, was rector of a church in Fiftieth-st., near Lexington-ave., when the congregation united with the Stanton Street parish. The semi-centennial services will be resumed to-day, when Eishop Riley, of Mexico, is expected to preach.

| Bid. Ask'd | Bid

SATURDAY, Jan. 6-P. M. The stock market to-day presents little that calls for comment here. Its course was so consistent with the views that have been expressed regarding the movements of the week as to leave little to be said beyond that always ungracious remark, "We told you so." The business of the day was only 258,13 shares, against 378,600 shares yesterday. Prices opened at their best for the day and closed at near to their lowest. While duliness and shrinkage of values were the predominating features, there were spasms of activity and sharp partial recoveries from the preceding declines. For instance Chicago and Northwest stock had slowly declined from 13514 to 133782 134, but an energetic broker was able to record the next purchase of 300 shares at 135: the next following sale was at 134, and later the stock sold at 13312@134. Similar instances of manipulation might be cited in several other stocks, but one example is sufficient to explain the general character of the day's market. Denver and Rio Grande was fairly sustained, and held its quotations perhaps better than any other stock; concerning it the rumors circulated were more absurd than any ever before invented in Wall Street. For instance, it was stated that the Union Pacific Railroad Company had signed a contract to pay 60 for a majority of the stock, whenever that price is bid at the Stock Exchange. Some persons of a sceptical disposition were inclined to ask the question " What in the The market closed quiet at some recoveries from the lowest prices.
